VASSON'S WELCOME TO INDIANA

We invite the thousands of Men, Women and Children who will visit our city this week to come to the Great Dry Goods Distributing House of Indiana and see an exhibit that will surpass in many respects that of the State Fair. Our immense building is now crowded from the basement to the top floor with articles of interest. Not room enough in this paper to tell you all about them. We call attention to a few only. However, when you come to our store don't fail to visit our Basement, which is one of the most attractive places in our store, and the Top Floors, where you find the Carpets, Rugs and Draperies. Two passenger elevators in constant use.

PERSONAL AND SOCIETY.

All soriety and personal notes for the Sunday issue of the Journal, to secure publication, must be in the hands-of the-city editor by Saturday

With the exception of those people who make society a slavish business, the social side of life is the necessary and recuperative portion. It is the relaxation from the strain which men endure during the day. in their offices and mercantile houses, and which women find in their domestic cares, or which the woman who works seeks after her hours of labor, from the neighbor who drops in for a friendly chat to the impromptu gatherings of a larger company or the full-dress party of the so-called aristocrats. The smaller the company the more pleasure the majority find, in the exchange of thoughts or the discussion of the events of the day. The size and character of a gathering decides the subjects to be discussed, and it is a rare group that function. The strains of flowers, movements of guests and buzz of conversation are not conducive to largeness of ideas. Indianapolis society is unlike that of large cities, except on unusual occasions. There is not enough of it to keep any maid or matron upon the rack from noon till early morn, rushing from a luncheon to a series of receptions and parties, with scarcely time between to make the necessary changes of toilet, and taking a few hours when the rest of the world is beginning active preparations for another day, to snatch a brief nap. And for this very difference in social life in this city, the maids and matrons will retain their youthful bloom long after the belles of New York and Washington have left the ranks. The fame of the pretty women of this city is spreading, and strangers remark upon the beauty of Indianapolis women of all ages. At some of the coming weddings the prettiest young women will be of the bridal party, either as the bride or one of the maids of honor or brides-maids, and

Mr. Sidney W. Coan met with an agreeable surprise on Monday evening, which was his birthday anniversary. Between thirty and forty friends assembled. A string-band discoursed sweet music. Cards and refreshments were the features of the evening.

Mrs. Adela Lucy, of St. Louis, is visiting her parents, Professor and Mrs. Jaillet, on North Cennessee street. Mrs. Lucy is a fine vocalist. She has a voice of great purity, sweetness and flexibility, and she executes marvelously well. Mrs. Lucy was for two years leading soprano at the Church of the Holy Trinity in New York, and later has been the soprano in the Church of the Holy Communion in St. Louis, A pupil of Marchesi in Paris and of Patti's teacher, Barilli, she has had the best instructors known, and is a credit to them. Mrs. Lucy will sing at an entertainment at the Propybeum Tuesday evening, at which time instrumental numbers will be given by Misses Lida and Mamie Bell, and Miss Ruth Nicholas. Miss Margaret Reid Kackley will sail this week for this country, and will spend the month of October in this city with her relatives and friends. Miss held has been studying steadily all summer, and the time spent in this country will be her vacation. Notawithstanding several good offers of engagements, Miss Reid will not enter the musical world professionally until she feels herself fully equipped. Carvaino, who has been alternately manager of the Grand Opera and Opera Comique, heard her sing last spring and expressed himself as delighted with the purity and general excellence of her voice, and said he would offer her an engagement at the completion of her studies. She is preparing a reperteire of "Hamlet," "Romeo and Juliet," "Dinorah," "Traviata," "Faust," "Sennambula," "Mignon" and "Lakme." Miss Reid's ovation upon the occasion of her appear-been forgotten, and it is probable that the public will have at least one apportunity to hear her sing before she returns to Paris in November. Society Events.

meet Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCullough to perfect arrangements for a literary club. Mr. John R. McFee has been chosen president and Judge Reinhard vice-president of the new society. A delightful progressive euchre party was given Tuesday evening by Mrs. W. H. Cooper, in honor of the Misses Angela Donelly and Julia Leeds, of Michigan City. Mrs. Cooper was assisted by Mrs. John Ferris in entertaining her friends. The favors were elegant and dainty. Among the guests were Misses Emma Sanders and Louise Scanlau, of Cincinnati, and Edith The first meeting of the Contemporary Club for this season will occur Wednesday evening at the Propyleum. The lecturer will be Miss Flor-ence Balgarnie, of London, England, who will speak on "The English Woman of To-day." The reception committee consists of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Holliday, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baldwin, Miss Margaretta S. Elder and Mrs. May Wright Sewall, the retiring president. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong gave a very delightful phonograph party at their elegant home on Arsenal avenue, Thursday evening of last week. The guests, numbering forty or more, were very highly entertained from the choice selections rendered from the phonograph and the choice selections which he furnished for the oceasion from the instrument. Mrs. Kopche, a de-lightful soprano singer from the East, sang, and the song was reproduced by the phonograph, to
